PART OF YOUR COMMUNITY

Every day, the RCMP in New Brunswick works hard, not only to solve crime, but to prevent it. From conducting checkstops to curbing unsafe driving practices, leading investigations to help reduce the illegal drugs available on our streets, or simply reaching out to at-risk young people, we are committed to making a positive difference. While police have a vital role to play, our success rests heavily on strong partnerships within the communities we serve, with other law enforcement agencies and with our partners. Working together, we can achieve our collective goal in New Brunswick: to keep our beautiful province and its people safe and secure.

MESSAGE FROM THE MINISTER OF PUBLIC SAFETY AND SOLICITOR GENERAL

Balancing regular duties while meeting the additional demands of a pandemic, both professionally and personally, has been very challenging for all first-responders.

Members of the RCMP have been indispensable partners in preserving public safety, law and order across New Brunswick during the exceptional circumstances produced by a worldwide pandemic.

Through it all, members of the RCMP have continued to show their readiness and dedication to our communities and our people.

In 2021, the Department of Justice and Public Safety was pleased to partner with the RCMP on more initiatives that will make a difference in the lives of New Brunswickers. That includes the Provincial Crime Reduction Unit which is working in collaboration with different agencies in the province to target mid- and high-level drug dealers. They have been hard at work making arrests and seizures.

We're proud to have the RCMP as a partner in initiatives such as these. It is with your commitment, expertise and dedication that New Brunswickers are afforded to live in a province where they feel safe and secure.

I look forward to working with the new commanding officer, Assistant Commissioner DeAnna Hill, and to our continued collaboration in the years ahead.

I thank all RCMP members for the professionalism and service you continue to provide to your fellow New Brunswickers every day, through the ordinary and the extraordinary.

Hon. Kris Austin

Minister of Public Safety and Solicitor General
Department of Justice and Public Safety

MESSAGE FROM THE COMMANDING OFFICER

As the New Brunswick RCMP, everything we do relates to serving our communities. Every call we attend, every interaction with the public, and the work of so very many employees, speaks to our commitment to public safety. That will never change, no matter what we face. I am honored to serve as Commanding Officer in this wonderful province alongside the talented and dedicated employees in this Division.

The past two years have been unprecedented times. Despite numerous challenges, this division has kept going, navigating the complexities of all the issues that have been thrown at us. I could not be more proud to lead the New Brunswick RCMP as we work with our partners to protect the communities and citizens we serve.

As the Commanding officer of the New Brunswick RCMP, I am committed to ensuring that all of my employees have the tools and training necessary to conduct their work as safely and as effectively as possible.

Throughout the difficult times, we have continued to prioritize efficient and effective approaches to policing. We have developed relationships with communities and partners that we continue to build upon, while managing public safety issues and threats. As the world of policing evolves, our employees continue to rise up, with the ultimate goal of keeping our communities safe.

Our commitment to New Brunswickers will always remain the same – we are here for you, we are here with you, and we will meet future challenges as we have met all others – together. I thank you for the trust you place in us – I will do all I can to collaborate with all stakeholders to ensure we are the best we can be. Through mutual collaboration and striving for common goals, we will continue to do great things for our province.

For the New Brunswick RCMP, it is not only a duty to serve and protect this province, but an honour and a pleasure. We look forward to the future on the horizon and moving ahead.
